SUMMARY

Precious Human Resources Professional, I'm Utku. I have been developing my skills in software development for a year and I am currently continuing to learn as a front end web developer. I am proficient in technologies like JavaScript and Node.js, and I develop web applications using frameworks such as React and Next.js.

In my previous projects, I have worked to enhance user experience and have contributed to the development of various web applications. Especially, I gained a lot of experience in the 'Account Budget' project.

I enjoy developing innovative solutions and using technology to improve people's lives. I look forward to contributing to your project with similar values and experiences.
